The Observer.

The attempt to secure popular recognition of Lincoln's birthday as a public holiday has not proved very successful. Americans do not like too many holidays, and besides Lincoln's birthday comes too close to that of Washington, the observerance of which as a public holiday has long been firmly established. The slight notice taken of the Lincoln anniversary is not in the least due to any lack of recognition of the great and lovable qualities of Lincoln's character. Though Washington will ever be honored as the Father of His Country, it is nevertheless Lincoln, and not Washington, whose memory is "first in the hearts of his countrymen." We venerate Washington; we love Lincoln.

So far as achievement is concerned, Washington's claim to greatness rests upon his record as the commander-in-chief of the Continental armies. It is easy, and sometimes has been the fashion, to do him less than justice as a military leader. It is true that he avoided pitched battles as far as possible, and that he lost the few that he did fight. It is true that Trenton and Princeton were small affairs in themselves. It is true that the credit of Saratoga went to Gates and Schuyler. It is true that the triumph at Yorktown was made possible only through the co operation of the French army and fleet. But on the other hand we must not forget the masterly strategy which forced the British to evacuate Boston. As for Trenton and Princeton though small affairs in themselves, they show a brilliancy of conception and a rapidity and daring in execution worthy of Napoleon. By temporarily saving New Jersey and Philadelphia, these victories had a moral effect of incalculable value. We must remember, too, that Washington never forgot that he was the commander-in chief of all the American forces—not merely of those under his own immediate command. He gladly sent his best troops to reinforce the northern army in its campaign against Burgoyne, while he himself undertook with success the more modest, but equally important, task of keeping Clinton's attention engaged about New York, in this way preventing Clinton from ascending the Hudson to effect a junction with Burgoyne. As for the Yorktown campaign, it is doubtful if military annals show a more clever bit of strategy than the way in which Washington stole south, while making Clinton think that he was preparing for an attack upon New York. It is doubtful if Marborough, or Frederick or even Napoleon, could have brought the war to a successful termination any sooner than Washington did

Washington did not belong to the class of vulgar conquerors. He fought that he might establish peace on the basis of independence, and when that and was gained he sheathed his sword forever. He loved not merely peace; he loved retirement. Washington was one of those men, who, possessing certain marked qualities of leadership, nevertheless have to be dragged out of their retirement in order to serve the state. Such men never originate movements nor inspire policies. The Adamses and Jefferson were far more potent influences in precipitating the revolt against the mother country than was Washington. We call Washington the Liberator because he performed the actual task of destroying the British power in the Colonies; but it was Jefferson, rather than Washington, who was the incarnation of the spirit of liberty and independence.

After the termination of the war, Washington seems to have had no other desire or expectation than to pass the remainder of his days in the retirement of his home at Mount Vernon. But men and events shaped a fresh task for him. More clearly than any one else, Alexander Hamilton saw that a Federal government must be constructed upon a new and enduring foundation. Washington saw this necessity, too; but he was not the man to take a very active initiative in this problem of construction. We call Washington the Father of His Country because, in addition to being the Liberator, he was the first President of the Federal Union; but if the one to whose constructive genius and energy we chiefly owe the Constitution, is best entitled to be called the Father of His Country, then that honor belongs to Alexander Hamilton.

Washington was a man of large mould and noble personality, of strong, practical judgment and executive efficiency, generous in his views and just in his attitude. His military reputation led to his call to take command of the Continental army. The prestige of the war and the unbounded confidence of the people in his wisdom and integrity, made him the logical choice of the states for the presidency. As a political thinker and as an aggressive and constructive political leader, he was greatly inferior to Hamilton; but coming to the presidency unidentified with faction and possessed of the confidence of all, he was in a position to cement into something like stable unity the several parts of the newly planned government. What was needed in the presidency was not a constructive statesmen, so much as a strong, wise and practical administrator. No man could have met this need as well as Washington. Had Adams or Jefferson or Hamilton been the first President it is doubtful whether the unstable federal government could have survived to the end of the first presidential term.

Jefferson drafted the Declaration of Independence; Washington the Soldier made it effective. Hamilton's constructive genius planned the machinery of the federal government; Washington the Administrator gave body and life to it and started it upon the road of history.

Service of Sacred Music.

The Service of Sacred Music at the First Methodist Episcopal Church last Sunday evening attracted a very large audience. The pews were filled and chairs had to be placed in the aisles to accommodate the late comers. Mr. Ericsson was very artistic in his organ numbers, Miss Grace Lloyd, soprano, and Mr. Fred Heilman, baritone, were superb in their solo parts, while the anthems by the choir were given with the excellence that characterizes the various renditions of this organization of singers. It was an enjoyable and profitable evening and anew emphasizes the ability of Mr. Ericsson as organist and choir master.

Thanks.

We wish to thank the people who attended the box social, held by Misses Anna Market and Leathie Victory, at Mr. Market's home, Sizerville, Friday evening, for benefit of the Orphan's Memorial Fund. Including valuable paper for the notice, which rendered us so much aid. The social was a success and was largely attended.

ANNA MARKET and LEATHIE VICTORY.

League Entertains.

The Epworth League of the First Methodist Episcopal church, presented a very pleasing program of music and recitations to about one hundred and fifty of its members and friends, last Friday night, and delighted the inner man with some choice refreshments, consisting of cocoa and cake. Music was rendered by the S. S. Orchestra during the social hour. Seven new members were added.

M. E Church Re-Opened.

Last Sabbath was a day of victory and rejoicing for the Methodists of this place, it being the occasion of their re opening exercises. Rev. N. E. Cleaver, a former pastor, preached the re-opening sermon at the morning service. After the sermon, and appeal was made for $200.00, which was readily answered in cash and subscription. The pastor Rev. R. Sykes Oyler then made an announcement, which surprised and delighted his people, viz: that he had secured from a friend of the Church in the west checks for $200.00, with which he had liquidated the debt on the parsonage and assisted in repairing the church.

The evening service was of a union character, and the church was so crowded that many were turned away, not being able to secure even standing room. Rev. Dr. J. C. Rose, of the Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Henri Kieffer, of the Reformed Church were present and participated in the services. Rev. Mr Cleaver preached a sermon of great scope and profound thought which was listened to with delight by the large and appreciative audience

The male quartette of St Thomas assisted the Mercersburg Choir in rendering music for the occasion. Their singing was enjoyed by all. Miss Elizabeth Reese rendered well a solo at the morning service.

The church, which has been repaired without, and artistically embellished within, presents a beautiful contrast to its former condition

At the morning service, Mr. David Long, speaking in behalf of the Board of Trustees thanked the pastor, Rev Oyler, for his perseverence and labors in bringing about the grand achievement for the Church.—Mercersburg Journal.

C. B. Howard & Co., have received from the Pacific Coast what is perhaps the finest lot of RED CEDAR shingles that ever came to Cameron county.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

LABELL.

Mr. Charles LaBell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph LaBell, who reside at Four Mile, met with a tragic death, Thursday, February 15th, at Sinnamahoning. In attempting to board a moving freight train he lost his hold, fell under the cars sustaining injuries from which he died in a few hours. His remains were brought to his late home the following day, from which funeral services were conducted Monday last by the Rev. O. S. Metzler, the attendance being large. Deceased was 24 years of age, is survived by a father and mother and eight brothers and sisters. He was a young man of good habits, was industrious kind to his father and mother whose grief is very great in their separation from their son. Much sympathy is felt for the family in its affliction.

***

CRIST.

MR. JOSEPH T. CRIST, aged 74 years. who has reisided with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lyons at this place, being father of Mrs. Lyons, died last Monday morning, after an illness of several weeks. Deceased leaves four children viz: Mrs. William Lyons, Emporium; Mr. Nelson Christ and Mrs. Jas. Kingston, Berwick, Pa.; Mr. Monroe Christ, California.

The funeral services were held at his late home yesterday morning, at 10:30. Rev. O. S. Metzler, Pastor of First Methodist Episcopal Church officiated. The remains were taken to Pine Summit, Columbia county, Pa, on noon Flyer for burial—former home of Mr. Crist.

Mr. Christ has for a long time been employed in the Keystone factory, in the box department, and was faithful in his work, rain or shine. Our citizens no doubt have noticed the crippled old veteran daily going to and from his work. For 25 years he has suffered with his affliction, evidently the result of his exposure inflicted during the rebellion. One by one the "boys" of 1861-65 are rapidly passing away to receive their reward for faithful service in the cause of justice and loyalty.

KILDAY.

Word was received this morning of the death of Mrs Mary Kilday, aged 83 years, of Port Allegany, mother of Mr. P. Kilday, proprietor of the St. Charles Hotel at this place..

Divorce Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Leaders in the campaign for a uniform divorce law, from nearly every state and territory in the union were present at the opening of the divorce convention here this morning. About one hundred and fifty delegates were in attendance, including a number of Governors of states. Following the address of welcome, Gov. Pennypacker, of Pennsylvania, outlined the progress already made toward puttiug restrictions opon divorce evils and expressing his views of the possible remedy.

Gov. Pennypacker was elected president of the divorce congress. A. M. Eaton, of Rhode Island, C. Larue Munson, of Pennsylvania, M. T. Barton, of Virginia, Albert R. Dabney, of California, were made vice presidents, and William H. Stank, of Pennsylvania, secretary. Governor Pennypacker then addressed the convention.

A Grand Old Man.

A. D. Sloan, W. C. Walker and Robert Mackey have returned from Eldred, where the former installed the officers of Eldred lodge, No. 560, F. & A. M., Tuesday evening. One of the pleasing features of the evering was the installation of C. C. Moses as treasurer for the 23rd consecutive term. He was presented with a handsome gold headed cane by the lodge. He is 90 years of age. A banquet was served by the ladies of Eastern Star.—Bradford Star The PRESS is pleased to know that our old and valued friend continues to live and take an interest in things he loves. Capt. Squire Moses, a veteran of the civil war, has for many years taken a lively interest in public affairs and enjoys the confidence of McKean county citizens. May he run out the century mark.

A Valuable Contributor.

Mr. J. F. Sullivan and wife, of Huntley, visited in Emporium Monday evening, and called to see ye editor. Mr. Sullivan is a valued PRESS correspondent, his crisp news items being eagerly looked for each week. Mr. Sullivan is also and old and expert railroad man and competent to handle the most responsible position in the train department, having for years been train despatcher before coming to this section.

Volume Forty-One.

With this number THE CAMERON COUNTY PRESS enters upon its forty-first volume. While looking back over the many years that we have been alied with the old PRESS we are proud of the fact that this Journal has always taken a clean as well as loyal course—loyalty to our county, town and the Republican party. Our plant has continued to enlarge and to-day ranks with the best country Journals. Our subscription and advertising enjoys a substantial and satisfactory advancement, larger than ever before. We shall make no rash promises for the future but will continue in our usual well beaten path.

Our patrons, who have loyally stood with the PRESS during its long existence, we desire to thank once more, assuring them we shall endeavor to merit a continuance of their good-will and patronage.

Before closing this brief article we desire to thank our several correspondents for their weekly letters, now the greatest variety of any country paper in this section of the state.

The PRESS will keep up with you.

Married at Washington.

Mr. John Leggett Pultz and Miss Hildegrade M'Kenna, youngest daughter of Justice McKenna, of the United States Supreme Court, were married in Washington yesterday. The bridegroom is a consulting engineer in New York and had charge of the work at Cameron mines this county about a year ago. The ceremony was witnessed by President Roosevelt, Vice President and Mrs. Fairbanks and other distinguished persons.

Announcement is also made that Miss Marie McKenna, another daughter, and Mr. Davenport Brown, who also had charge at Cameron mines, will be married at Easter.

Farewell Supper.

Mrs. B. A. Slocum, a respected resident of east ward for a number of years, leaves this week for Medford, Oregon, to join her husband who has located there, being engaged in lumbering there. About thirty of the good lady's friends gave her a farewell supper Monday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Strayer, which is spoken of as a very pleasant affair. In addition to a bountious repast, consisting of all good things, the guests were treated to several selections of music by Miss Grace Walker and Miss Grace Lloyd.

1903 Pennies.

Joseph Goodfriend of St. Marys, who advertised to give $17 for 1903 pennies was in town on Wednesday. Mr. Goodfriend said he had received, a number of letters, also some pennies. The parties evidently misunderstood the advertisement. He did not want pennies of the year 1903, but any old pennies to the amount of $19.03 He says there are parties saving pennies for him at St. Marys. If there are any to be found in this county who have 1903 pennies for $17, we hope they will drop in and see us before going elsewhere.

Mr. Howard's Gift.

The Williamsport High School Alumni is succeeding with its work of raising an endowment fund to pay for a normal scholarship each year for some deserving graduate. With an addition to be made this week the fund will approximate $1,000.

T. H. Hammond, Esq., is about to turn over to the alumni $200. Of this sum $150 is from Hon. Josiah Howard, of Emporium, Mr. Howard making the substantial gift through Mr. Hammond.—Williamsport News.

Met With Quite an Accident.

While stepping on an icy board, one day last week, Mrs. O. P. Warner had the misfortune to slip and fall with great force, striking her face. Her nose and eyes were badly blackened and her forehead bruised. Although still bearing signs of her painful accident, she is getting along nicely.

St. Charles Hotel.

Owing to the death of Mr. P. Kilday's mother, at Port Allegany, the St Charles Hotel at this place will remain closed until after the funeral, which will likely be held Saturday.

Thanks.

Mr. Frank Labell wishes to thank the kink people of Sinnamahoning and also Emporium for favors received during the accident and death of his brother.

Bohumir Kryl, February 28th.

With the Bohumir Kryl Company, the People's Star Course for the season of 1905-06 will close Wednesday evening, February 28th. If the price is to be taken as an index of quality, the Kyrl Company will be the finest of the present series and if the enthusiastic endorsements received from ocean to ocean is to be regarded as a criterion of excellence nothing superior to it has ever appeared on the local boards. Kryl is the world's greatest cornetist, his appearance as solo cornetist with Sousa, Creatore, Innes and Dues having won for him this enviable distinction. The assisting artists are Julia Heinrich, Contralto, Carl Heinrich, Baritone and Violinist, and Phoebe Mae Roberts, Reader. Miss Heinrich is known the world over for her beautiful song interpretation, both alone and in connection with her illustrious father, Max Heinrich. Miss Roberts is said to be a "new find" among readers and so favorably has she been received in a tour that has embraced the principal cities east and west, that next season she will head a company of her own. The management has the fullest confidence that this company will meet the highest expectations of those who attend.

Train No. 4 leaving Emporium at 10:30 p. m., will stop at Cameron, Wednesday night, February 28th, for the convenience of those wishing to be present from that section, arrangements having been made. Reserved seats, 50 cts; gallery, 25 cts. Chart at Lloyd's.

Sunday School Superintendents.

If each of the above named officers, in the county will send his name to Mrs. J. E. Smith, Sterling Run, Pa, he will confer a favor to the officers of the County Sabbath School Association, and at the same time will receive a book, free of charge, which will be valuable to him in his work.

E. S LING.
President County Association.

At Ridgway, Wednesday, March 14, will be held a Conference for primary Sunday School workers, which the Cameron county workers in that department should attend. It is under the auspices of the State Association and is intended for McKean, Potter, Elk and Cameron counties.

Letter of Commendation.

Hon. Josiah Howard, who has just returned from his labors at Harrisburg, where he gave strict attention to the duties of the position and served his constituents faithfully and well. The following letter form Gov. Samuel W. Pennypacker is a flattering and just recognition to an honorable Representative:

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER.
HARRISBURG, FEBRUARY 16, 1906.

HON. JOSIAH HOWARD,
Emporium, Pa.

DEAR SIR:—

I want to express to you my very high appreciation of the meritorious work accomplished by the Legislature at the recent extraordinary session, and to thank you for the part you took in making it a success. The fact that you participated in a session of such importance will, I am sure, ever be a satisfaction to you.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) SAM. W. PENNYPACKER.

Progressive Washington Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morrison, entertained about twenty friends at their residence, West Fifth street, last Saturday evening. The cherry tree, which was not cut down but a source of entertainment was ladened with lucious fruit. Miss Vera Ostrum and Miss Maud Pearsall carried away the prizes, which were given for the Washington contests. The occasion was a very enjoyable one.

Sneak Thieves.

Last Friday night some light fingered individual entered William Snyder's residence, forcing a window open and captured Mr. Snyder's pantaloons. William awoke early in the morning and finally found his clothing in the parlor the pockets having been rifled of $20.00 The thief in his haste dropped $4.00 on the floor.

We find the following in the Clearfield Advocate. The editor evidently reads his exchanges:

We read about a famine,
In some far distant land;
We read about the thousands,
Now starving in Japan;
We read about the hungry,
Among our city poor;
But our exchanges tell us,
They are starving at our door;
Think of it my readers,
In this bounteous land of ours;
People now are starving,
In the Penny's Railroad Towers;
People gaunt and hungry,
Pitiful to see;
No strength to touch a lever,
No strength to touch a key;
Shame on the corporations,
That work both night and day,
Those noble manly fellows,
With only monthly pay,
Shame on the souless people,
Shame, that they forget,
The man high in the tower,
Must have his cigarette;
No wonder people tremble,
When gazing from the car;
And see the bales of feathers,
Rails, and pails of tar;
God bless that noble hero,
Who took his neighbor's rig,
And drove far in the country,
Till he found a fatted pig,
And spared not time nor money,
Drove through rain and sleet,
And brought the toothsome spare rib,
For the hungry ones to eat,
Let the Telegrapher's Union,
Rise up in their might,
Nail their banners to the wall,
Make ready for the fight,
And tell the public robbers,
Drunk with greed and power,
They must excuse but never abuse,

Little Woman's Day.

This is undoubtedly the day of the little woman. There is a dash and a go about her impossible to women of larger growth. In many instances she is as nimble in mind as she is agile in body. Her thought flashes from one subject to another as her restless body dashes from this place to that. She combines the quickness and alertness of the bird with the easy playfulness of the kitten.—Madame.

Missions in China.

The year 1907 will mark the completion of the first century of Protestant missions in China. In 1807 Morrison sailed for China and labored for many years without a convert. In 1843 there were 12 missionaries and only six converts. In 1863 there were less than 2,000 converts, now there are 150,000. The missionary force now numbers 3,270 persons.

Jeweler Happy Too.

The jeweler, however, is also happy. The jewel weighs 28 grains, is perfect in shape and flawless, and has an estimated value of $3,500.

Wilhelm's Voice.

Dr. E. W. Scripture, who has been making researches in phonetics under a Smithsonian institution grant, has secured a gramophone record of the voice of Emperor William of Germany. Earth's Atmosphere.

The atmosphere of the earth acts very much in the same way as does the glass of a greenhouse—it allows the rays of the sun to pass through, but imprisons the heat. Thus it is colder on the top of a mountain than at the sea level, because, though the mountain-top is nearer the sun, the atmosphere is very much less dense.

STUPENDOUS

Fraud Is Charged Against Cleveland Financiers.

"ELECTRIC MULE"

Company Is Alleged by a Cincinnati Banker to Have Been the Vehicle for a Big Swindle.

Cincinnati, Feb. 17.—Sensational charges are made in a suit filed in the United States circuit court Friday by attorneys for Rudolph Kleybolte, a Cincinnati banker seeking an investigation of the Miami and Erie Transportation Co., known as the "electric mule."

The charge is that financiers of Cleveland, whose names are mentioned as defendants, floated $2,000,000 in bonds and $3,000,000 in stock on the sole strength of $10,000 paid up capital stock in that company, and that these stocks and bonds being placed on the market were taken in good faith by hundreds of innocent investors.

Banker Kleybolte brings his action on behalf of all the creditors of the company, including the holders of bonds.

The pith of the action is found in the allegation that the defendants presented to themselves $2,990,000 of the capital stock of the Miami and Erie Canal Co., which was issued to them as paid up stock, but for which they made no payments, and on the strength of which the company caused $2,000,000 in bonds to issue and to contract other debts. The petition asks that these defendants be compelled to pay par for that stock and the proceeds be applied to the debts of the company.

There is pending in the Cleveland courts a suit to assess the liability against the stockholders on whom the original holders unloaded. Attorney General Ellis has also brought action to oust the concern from the canal banks. The bill seeks to set aside the contract between Lamprecht and associates and the company in so far as it exempts these defendants from paying for the $2,990,000 stock, and seeks to require them to pay for the same to satisfy the debts of the company, which with the bonds amount to $2,000,000.

Mr. Kleybolte alleged he has obtained judgment on 13 bonds of the company for $3,300, has issued an execution which he alleges was returned unsatisfied, and that his investigation shows the company has debts amounting to $1,500,000 and that its assets will not realize more than $200,000. He also asks that these defendants be required to turn into court the $216,000 they received for the sale of bonds and that the court appoint a receiver to collect these sums from the defendants for the benefit of creditors.

TRADE REVIEW.

Manufacturers of Many Leading Staples Unable to Suppply Demand.

New York, Feb. 17.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Weather conditions have continued to stimulate retail trade in seasonable merchandise, part of the earlier unsatisfactory results being offset by a vigorous demand for winter clothing and footwear, while household consumption of fuel has revived retail trade. Nor has the possibility of a strike unsettled confidence in the future, jobbing and wholesale sales of dry goods for the spring trade reaching a greater aggregate than last year, and collections are prompt in most instances.

Manufacturers in most leading industries are falling further behind with deliveries, particularly in the steel business, while increased capacity has not kept pace with requirements, but reports from the woolen mills are irregular.

Failures this week numbered 241 in the United States, against 258 last year, and 33 in Canada, compared with 32 a year ago.

PAT CROWE GOES FREE.

Alleged Kidnapper of Young Cudahy Is Acquitted by a Jury at Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 17.—Pat Crowe, charged with the robbery of Edward A. Cudahy, the Omaha packer, of $25,000 in connection with the kidnapping of Mr. Cudahy's son five years ago, was acquitted Friday. The jury was out 15 hours.

The kidnapping of Eddie Cudahy, December 19, 1900, and his release upon payment by his father of $25,000 ransom created a great sensation and the search for the kidnappers was stimulated at the time by the offer of a reward of $50,000 by Mr. Cudahy.

Last October Crowe was arrested in Butte, Mont. He was put on trial February 7. There was no evidence positively to identify Crowe as one of the kidnappers.

Town Swept by Fire.

Somerset, Pa., Feb. 17.—Niverton, a small mining town in Somerset county, was almost entirely burned yesterday and several families are homeless, 18 double houses going up in the flames caused by an overheated stove. The town was practically blotted out.

Kansas City, Feb. 17.—The basket ball team of Company E, New York national guard, of Schenectady, last night won the basket ball championship of the world by defeating the Kansas City Athletic club 37 to 11.

CONGRESSIONAL.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NATIONAL SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The senate yesterday adopted a joint resolution reported by Mr. Tillman from the senate committee on inter-state commerce which directs the inter-state commerce commission to investigate the charge of discrimination and combination in restraint of trade made against railroads. House had sport with the whipping post bill for wife beaters and then laid it on the table, effectively disposing of it by a vote of 153 to 60. The bill requiring the return of freight rebates was passed.

Washington, Feb. 14.—The fortifications appropriation bill held the attention of the house yesterday and was the text for considerable heated argument, first over the lax methods of expenditure of public moneys and second over the location of the proposed $15,000,000 naval station for the Philippines. Aside from the time required for the transaction of routine business the entire session of the senate was devoted to amendments to the shipping bill.

Washington, Feb. 15.—At a few minutes after 6 o'clock yesterday the senate cast its final ballot on the subsidy shipping bill, which was passed by a vote of 38 to 27. All the votes for the bill were by republican senators and five republican senators voted with the democrats in opposition. As passed the bill establishes 13 new contract mail lines and increases the subvention to the Oceanic line running from the Pacific coast to Australasia. Incident to the passage of the fortifications appropriation bill, which was accomplished by the house yesterday, a lively debate was kept up throughout.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The "morning hour" prevailed in the house yesterday until after 5 o'clock. The net result was the passage of a bill to increase to $50,000 a year the federal appropriation to each state and territory for the support of agricultural experiment stations, and a bill repealing the present law granting American register to foreign ships wrecked and repaired on the American coast, in the discretion of the secretary of the department of commerce and labor and requiring a special act of congress to grant such register. The senate passed to the consideration of the joint statehood bill and listened to a speech by Mr. Dick in support of the bill as reported by the committee on territories.

Oil Barge Adrift.

New York, Feb. 16.—The oil barge Conemaugh, which had been cast adrift during a storm from the steamer which had it in tow, was spoken off Cape Hatteras on Wednesday by the steamer Cubana, which arrived here Thursday. The oil barge left Port Arthur, Tex., January 31, bound for Philadelphia, in tow of the steamer Winifred. So violent was the storm which forced the two vessels to part company that the Conemaugh found it necessary to pump part of her oil into the sea, thereby lightening the ship. The Conemaugh reported that all were well on board and was left adrift by the Cubana.

A Frightful Experience.

New York, Feb. 13.—One month on the Atlantic Ocean with the ship converted into a smallpox hospital and a quarter of the crew ill with this disease was the experience of the whaling brig Sullivan, of New London, Conn. The story of the smallpox outbreak on the whaler was told Monday by Mrs. M. J. Haggerty, wife of the captain of the Sullivan, who arrived here from Rio Janeiro on the steamer Castilian Prince. The whaling vessel put into Rio de Janeiro after two of its crew had died of smallpox and with seven others ill with the disease and the 27 remaining members of the crew frantic to get ashore.

Raced for Their Lives.

Bay City, Mich., Feb. 14.—One hundred men harvesting ice on Saginaw Bay with a dozen horses were driven ashore in a veritable panic yesterday when a northeaster swept down upon them, breaking the ice field loose from shore. Men and horses raced madly for their lives, all safely reaching land, however, before the breach between the ice field and the shore ice became impassable. The ice field was quickly driven against the west shore with terrific force, crushing and grinding the shore ice and piling up ice barriers ten to 20 feet high. The northeaster was accompanied by a blinding snow storm.

A Mysterious Explosion.

San Francisco, Feb. 14.—H. Laughran, an expressman, has been seriously injured by a mysterious explosion, and is now in a hospital, his condition being such that he cannot be interviewed. It is alleged that Laughran was employed to convey a box belonging to Company B, of the Second infantry, to the transport Meade and that he accidentally dropped the box, the contents of which exploded. The box is declared to have been similar to one which previously had been placed on the Meade in the section of the hold where the fatal fire occurred, the origin of which remains a mystery.

Hendricks Will Retire.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16.—Francis D. Hendricks, of Syracuse, is not a candidate for reappointment as state superintendent of insurance, which position he has held since his appointment by Gov. Roosevelt in January, 1900. He is 71 years old.

Fatally Shot Her Husband.

Pomona, Cal., Feb. 16.—H. Stantz, proprietor of the Pacific hotel, was shot in the neck and mortally wounded Wednesday night by his wife. Mrs. Stantz is in jail. Stantz and his wife came recently from Canton, O.

DEATH SEEMED NEAR.

How a Chicago Woman Found Help When Hope Was Fast Fading Away.

Mrs. E. T. Gould, 914 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are all that saved me from death by Bright's Disease, that I know. I had eye trouble, backache, catches when lying abed or when bending over, was languid and often dizzy and had sick headaches and bearing down pains. The kidney secretions were too copious and frequent, and very bad in appearance. It was in 1903 that Doan's Kidney Pills helped me so quickly and cured me of these troubles and I've been well ever since."

Mortifying.

There are a few solvent and respectable persons left in the country who have not yet been investigated. It begins to be embarrassing to a high soul not to have been found out. We are all miserable sinners. The prayer book says so. To have from a third to a half of our friends caught in some of their sins while ours continue private is conducive to self-contempt. It would be fairer to serve us out one suit of sackcloth apiece and ring in a general confession.—Life.

CONFERENCE

Of Miners and Operators Begins in New York.

MINERS' DEMANDS

Were Not Presented in Detail and the Matter was Referred to a Committee of Fourteen.

New York, Feb. 16.—The special scale committee of the United Anthracite Mine Workers of Pennsylvania appeared before the presidents and other officials of the coal mining companies here Thursday, stated in general terms the propositions it desired the operators to grant and then retired to formulate in detail the demands. Before the conference adjourned two sub-committees of seven men each were appointed, one repreesnting the miners and the other the operators, to take up jointly the questions at issue and endeavor to reach an agreement. When these committees have completed their work they will make a report to the conference.

The conference so far as it related to the coal companies was the most representative that has ever been held. Every coal company in the anthracite region was represented. President Mitchell, of the Miners' union, was the spokesman for the employes and made a speech that was well received by the operators.

"An adjournment was then had, with the understanding that the committee would arrange for further meetings."

IN RECEIVER'S HANDS.

A Chicago Bank Is Alleged by One of Its Stockholders to be Insolvent.

Chicago, Feb. 16.—The Bank of America, incorporated last December with a capital stock of $250,000, was last night placed in the hands of a receiver by Judge Chartres, of the superior court, on complaint of John E. Kavanaugh, a stockholder. The bill asking for the receivership holds ex-Judge Abner Smith, president, and three other officers of the bank responsible for the alleged insolvency of the institution.

In the few weeks since the opening of the bank, President Smith is charged with having so manipulated securities, mortgages and notes and the stock of the bank that he has obtained $146,000. The other three officers, who, in connection with President Smith are held responsible for the alleged insolvency of the bank, are G. F. Sorrow, vice president; Jerome V. Pierce, cashier, and F. E. Creelman, a stockholder and director.

The operations of President Smith and the other officers mentioned in the bill are said to have been begun before the bank opened for business.

IS ACCUSED OF HORRIBLE CRIME.

A Jersey City Man Is Alleged to Have Set His Brother Afire While the Latter Slept.

New York, Feb. 16.—Accused of having murdered his brother Carl for the purpose of obtaining life insurance money amounting to $3,000, Alexander Legler was arraigned in court at Jersey City yesterday. The examination of the prisoner was postponed, however, until next Saturday at the request of Chief of Police Murphy, who desired time to get together his witnesses.

The case is one of the most extraordinary in the police annals of Jersey City. Chief Murphy said the prisoner was suspected of having poured benzine over his brother Carl and of setting him afire while he slept, and added that it was believed that when Legler saw that his brother would not succumb to his injuries he caused the victim's death by administering some powder presumably of a poisonous nature.

THE PUBLIC LAND FRAUDS.

Four Hundred Convictions Have Been Obtained by the Government.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Light was thrown on the land fraud investigation by Secretary Hitchcock at a hearing before a sub-committee of the house appropriations committee yesterday. In connection with his estimates of $20,000 for a continuance of the prosecutions, Mr. Hitchcock explained that 600 indictments and 400 convictions already have been obtained by the interior department in 19 states.

To the great surprise of the sub-committee Mr. Hitchcock said that Louisiana leads in the number of land frauds uncovered by his department and has more than Oregon, Washington, or any of the other states which are supposed to be the chief offenders. California also shows a long list of frauds.

Eruption Broke Out in Spots All Over Body—Cured at Expense of Only $1.25—Thanks Cuticura.

"The Cuticura Remedies cured me of my skin disease, and I am very thankful to you. My trouble was eruption of the skin, which broke out in spots all over my body, and caused a continual itching which nearly drove me wild at times. I got medicine of a doctor, but it did not cure me, and when I saw in a paper your ad., I sent to you for the Cuticura book and I studied my case in it. I then went to the drug store and bought one cake of Cuticura Soap, one box of Cuticura Ointment, and one vial of Cuticura Pills. From the first application I received relief. I used the first set and two extra cakes of Cuticura Soap, and was completely cured. I had suffered for two years, and I again thank Cuticura for my cure. Claude N. Johnson, Maple Grove Farm., R. F. THE LAND OF SUNSHINE AND PLENTY

OWN A FARM AND BE INDEPENDENT

We have a tract of the finest land in Southern Alabama to be sold in 40 to 160 acre tracts. CASH OR EASY PAYMENTS.

LOCATED IN WASHINGTON COUNTY—MOST HEALTHFUL SPOT IN THE SOUTH

No cold weather, no coal to buy, less clothing, and, in fact, living is one-half the cost as in the north. A man with very little capital can own a forty-acre tract and become independent in a few short years by raising vegetables and fruits for the northern and eastern markets. We have the best shipping facilities, both by water and rail, making our lands the best garden spot in the country. This section offers more advantages for the wage earner or the man with a small capital than any spot on this green earth. This land will yield larger profits than you can realize out of northern land worth $150 per acre. The land is a rich sandy loam, with a clay subsoil, and grows peaches, pears, grapes, figs and all kinds of small fruits and vegetables in great abundance. Also corn, oats, sweet and Irish potatoes and cotton. This location is famous for its salubrious climate and curative powers. Plenty of creeks and pure spring drinking water. We are erecting a hotel, church, schoolhouse and store building in our new town,

NOW IS THE TIME TO PAINT.

Important Memorandum.—The painter is the most important factor in painting. A job complete, done by a good painter, with the best quality of paint, costing say $60.00 ($40.00 labor, $20.00 paint), will last five years. The same paint applied by a dauber ($20.00 labor, $20.00 paint), will last only two years. Thus the "five-year-cost" of the good painter's job is $12.00—the poor painter's, $20.00.

'Above all, USE GOOD PAINT!

The oil! linseed oil! Just pure linseed is the "life"—the one great requisite of good paint for which there is no substitute—and the sure way to get the pure, fresh linseed oil is to buy the oil and separately. For every gallon of Kinloch Paint buy one gallon of linseed oil. This makes two gallons of paint, ready for use. You then know that the paint you're putting on your house is alive—"the genuine oil is in it," and paint is not paint unless it contains 50% of really pure oil. We will further explain the virtues of Kinloch Paint if you will call and see us.

Kinloch HOUSE PAINT

TO THE REPUBLICAN ELECTORS OF PENNSYLVANIA.

I am directed by the Republican State Committee to announce that the Republicans of Pennsylvania, by their duly chosen representatives, will meet in convention at the Lyceum theatre in the city of Harrisburg, on Wednesday, June 6, 1906, at 10:30 a. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following offices, viz:

One person for the office of Governor;
One person for the office of Lieutenant-Governor;
One person for the office of Auditor-General.
One person for the office of Secretary of Internal Affairs; and for the transaction of such other business as may be presented.

In accordance with the rules governing the party, the representation in the State Convention will be based upon the vote polled at the last Presidential election. Under the rules each legislative district is intitled to one delegate for each two thousand votes cast for Republican electors in 1901, and an additional delegate for every fraction of two thousand votes polled in excess of one thousand.

By order of the State Committee,
W. R. ANDREWS, Chairman.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

A Habit to be Encouraged.

The mother who has acquired the habit of keeping on hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, saves herself a great amount of uneasiness and anxiety. Coughs, colds and croup, to which children are susceptible are quickly cured by its use. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia, and if given as soon as the first symptoms of croup appear, it will prevent the attack. This remedy contains nothing injurious and mothers give it to little ones with a feeling of perfect security. Sold by L. Taggart, J. E. Smith, Sterling Run; Crum Bros., Sinnamahoning.

The ideal is the mold in which the real is cast.

They never gripe or sicken, but cleanse and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels. This is the universal verdict of the many thousands who use DeWitt's Little Early Risers. You do not make life sacred by looking sad.

All old-time Cough Syrups bind the bowels. A new idea was advanced two years ago in Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. This remedy acts on the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs and loosens the bowels at the same time. It expels all cold from the system. It clears the throat, strengthens the mucous membrane, relieves coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)
Washington, Feb. 17th, 1906.

Editor Press:—

The wheels of business stopped in Washington to-day while the daughter of the President was led to the altar. Miss Alice Roosevelt was married to Representative Nicholas Longworth at noon by Bishop Satterlee and all of Washington not bidden to the White House for the ceremony watched and waited while the nuptials were performed. It was the most notable wedding that the capital has ever known. Miss Roosevelt was the twelfth White House bride. This initself was a distinction. But never before has a White House wedding attracted such attention. Never before has there been such a gathering of society people in the mansion and certainly never before has there been such an array of wedding gifts. Every country in the civilized world, even if China is included in that category, was represented in the tributes that were showered on the bride. Representative Longworth too was remembered in a way. But it was not his day. The young Ohio member, who has already won for himself a very fair reputation as a new Congressman was distinctly not in the running. He was an adjunct to the ceremony, but that was all, and that was as it should be. Miss Alice was the object of interest of the day and continued to be till the couple quietly stole away toward evening in an electric brougham for the honeymoon, which it is understood will be spent in a country homstead just outside of Waskington.

The Executive offices at the White House were closed all day. There was no business transacted for the first time perhaps since Mr. Roosevelt has been President. Promptly at 10 a. m., the gates of the White House were closed and thereafter there was no entrance without one of the magic admission cards. There were a little short of a thousand guests present, a gathering that crowded to the utmost the East Room where the ceremony was performed. Only ten representatives of the press were present, the three members of the local papers, the three press associations and four personal newspaper friends of Representative Longworth and the President. But society was represented from all quarters of the country. There were the members of the two families, the justices of the Supreme Court and members of the Cabinet, the members of the Senate who had formerly held cabinet positions, and the general run of invited guests who included most of the people of prominence whose names usually appear in the society volumns of the New York papers.

The service was brief but impressive as the words and the occasion warranted. The party moved almost immediately afterward to the breakfast room where there was a buffet luncheon for the most of the guests in the Blue Room. The newly married couple, President and Mrs. Roosevelt and about sixty of the guests sat down to the wedding breakfast in the Green Room. The breakfast lasted well into the afternoon. Then came the most interesting and least advertised part of the performance. Mr. Longworth and his bride quietly effaced themselves and left the house in an electric brougham, one of a dozen precisely alike, that were parked back of the White House. In it they drove away to the country house where they will spend the honeymoon.

F. H. Pearsoll Practical Painter.

Painting is practical work. Skill wins. It's the same with paint making.

You know 4 gallons L. & M., mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil makes enough paint for moderate sized house—the best paint money can buy—because the L. & M., Zinc hardens the L. & M., White Lead and makes the L. & M. Paint wear like iron.

Buy L. & M., and don't pay $1.50 a gallon for Linseed Oil, as you do in ready for use paint, but buy oil fresh from the barrel at 60 cents, and mix with the L. & M.

L. & M., costs only $1.20 per gallon. Sold by H. S. Lloyd.

A man who once had rough horny hands made them soft and smooth with Witch Hazel Salve, but he used the genine—that bearing the name "E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago." For sores, boils, cuts, burns, bruises, etc., it has no equal, and affords almost immediate relief from blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Virtue that is born of necessity is a poor self reward.

Lame Back.

This ailment is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles and may be cured by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm two or three times a day and robbing the parts vigorously at each application. If this does not afford relief, bind on a piece of flannel slightly dampened with Pain Balm, and quick relief is almost sure to follow. For sale by L. Taggart; J. E. Smith, Sterling Run; Crum Bros., Sinnamoning.

Letter to H. C. Olmsted.

Emporium, Pa.

Dear Sir: When you see a well-dressed man, you like to say: "There's a sample of my clothes. That man is worth two of himslf as he was when he came te me."

We have the same feeling. Our paint on a house is worth twice as much as old-fashion painter's paint, lead-and-oil. It looks the same when first put on. In three months it don't. In three years it decidedly don't.

Lead-and-oil chalks off in three years: it is considered a first-rate job that lasts three years.

Devoe lead-and zinz is about as good in three years as it was the day the painter left it.

Zinc is the secret of it; no secret at all. A good many painters know zinc; some mix it in with their lead. We grind it in; not a little, good deal.

It's the zinc and the grinding that does it. You can't mix zinc by hand. We grind it in by machinery.

Painters are finding us out, though some painters are slow.

You know that it pays a good man to wear good clothes. How many customers have you that know it.

Yours truly
F. W. DEVOE & Co.,
New York.

Cure Catarrh by Breathing Hyomei —Sold Under Guarantee by L. Taggart.

There is one treatment for nasal catarrh which is based upon common sense, and at the same time, is thoroughly scientific.

Hyomei is not a cure-all; it is a specific for the cure of catarrhal troubles. Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, the aromatic healing of Hyomei penetrates to the most remote part of the nose, throat, and lungs, healing all inflammation and killing the catarrhal germ wherever present.

So successful has Hyomei been in the cure of catarrh, that L. Taggart sells it under a guarantee that it will cost nothing unless it gives satisfaction. The complete Hyomei outfit sells for $1, and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler lasts a life time, and if more Hyomei is needed, extra bottles can be obtained for fifty cents.

It is the most economical of all remedies advertised for the cure of catarrh, and is the only one that terats this disease without stomach dosing, applying the medication and healing where the disease germs are present.

Do not dose the stomach to cure nasal catarrh, breathe Hyomei, knowing that if this treatment does not cure, it will cost you nothing.

The March Delineator.

In the March number The Delineator has fallen under the spell of romance which the forthcoming marriage of the President's daughter has evoked, and presents as its leading feature an article on "The Brides of the White House," illustrated with a handsome portrait of Miss Roosevelt never before published. The fiction of the number includes a short story by Mary Stewart Cutting, a clever study of child life by Virginia Woodward Cloud, and the continuation of "The President of Quex," Helen M. Winslow's interesting club story. Viola Allen, the popular young actress, who recently married a southern millionaire, writes of Shakespeare's heroines from the point of view of one who has personated many of them with great success. Dr. Murray concludes her series on "The Rights of the Child" with a paper on growth and development; and a unique feature begining in this number is "Houses by Correspondence," the first being The Doctor's House. Stories and pastimes are supplied for the amusement of children, and in the other departments many topics of interest and value to the home are treated. Fashion of course, plays a large part in this numbee, and the newest styles are illustrated and described in detail.

The New Cough Syrup—the one that acts as a mild cathartic on the bowels—is Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. It expells all cold from the system, cuts phlegm out of the throat, strengthens the membrane of the bronchial tubes, and relieves croup, whooping cough, etc. Children love it. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Fraud Exposed.

A few counterfeiters have lately been making and trying to sell imitations of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and other medicines, therby defrauding the public. This is to warn you to beware of such people, who seek to profit, through stealing the reputation of remedies which have been successfully curing disease, for over 35 years. A sure protection, to you, is our name, on the wrapper. Look for it, on all Dr. King's or Bucklen's remedies, as all others are mere imitations. H. E. Mrs. John Carney, of Renovo, spent a couple of days last week, with Mrs. H. P. Roberts.

Miss Blanch Kissell, of Sterling Run, was the guest of Mrs. Ed. Morse one day last week.

Mrs. Walter Morrison and Mrs. Fred Dinniny made the PRESS a business call last Thursday.

E. D. Leet and wife, of Ulysses, Pa., were guests of H. C. Olmsted and family over Sunday.

Louise La Fevre Smith, of Portville, N. Y., is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Seth J. Hackett.

Mrs. Thomas Gilroy, of Austin, and daughter Ezma, were the guests of Mrs. H. P. Roberts over Sunday.

Mrs. Walter Clark is quite ill with typhoid fever. Miss Carrie Miller, professional nurse, is nursing her.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Allen, of Port Allegany was the guest of Seth J. Hackett and family over Sunday.

Mr. E. H. Southwick, a practical druggist, from Pittsburg, is now employed in M. A. Rockwell's drug store.

Murdock McCloud, who has been located in Alaska for fifteen years, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Frank Mylan, at this place. A brother from Boston is also here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mylan, of East Fifth street, received two beautiful Valentines on St. Valentines day—a daughter and son. There was great rejoicing in that home.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Crist, of Pine Summit, Pa., were called to Emporium last Sunday owing to the serious illness of the former's father, Mr. J. T. Crist, who resides with his daughter, Mrs. Wm. Lyons.

Master Harold Chadwick, who has just recovered from typhoid fever, went to Bradford county one day last week to visit his little sister, Miss Irene. He took his grand-father, Mr. Mott, with him.

W. W. Knickerbocker, one of Emporium's energetic and reliable young men called at the PRESS office yesterday and pushed the date on his PRESS ahead another year. Mr. Knickerbocker has charge of Emporium electric light plant and gives excellent satisfaction.

Miss Elvia Whiting, of Ridgway, has accepted the vacancy in the corps of teachers in the borough schools, and took up the duties of her new position yesterday. Miss Whiting is an experienced teacher, and the directors were quite fortunate in getting so capable a person for the position.—Johnsonburg Press.

J. E. Rhodes, accompanied by his wife and two children, arrived in town Saturday from Dunlevie, West Va., to visit for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes conducts the boarding house for E. V. Dunlevie Lumber Company. They like the prospects in sight at Dunlevie. Mr. Rhodes was a PRESS caller on Wednesday and pushed his paper into 1907.

Orvis Hemphill will play ball with the DuBois team this season and expects to leave here about the first of May. We wish the young man success.

Capt. J. E. Mitson, of Buffalo, representing the Salvation Army, called on his Emporium friends this week, meeting with marked success. This noble army accomplishes much good. They deserve all they secure.

Dr. A. W. Baker.

Dr. Baker will be at the New Warner Friday afternoon and evening.

STORIES OF THE SECRET SERVICE

BY

Capt. Patrick D. Tyrrell

STORY No. 3

The MISSOURI LAND LEAGUERS

Being an Account of the Operations and Conviction of the Band of Land Thieves Operating in Missouri in the Early Seventies.

By CAPTAIN PATRICK D. TYRRELL

(Copyright, 1905, by Marion G. Scheitlin.)

Two men sat in the back room of the well-appointed offices of the Real Estate Loan and Trust company, of St. Louis, one night in the fall of 1872. One was young, under 30, slender and somewhat stooped. His eyes were dark and shifting and he wore a black beard and mustache. The other was slightly older and bore the appearance of a prosperous business man. Save for them the offices were deserted, but nevertheless they talked in undertones.

"The plan has been tested in all its questionable points and found absolutely safe," said the younger man, the owner of the offices and at all times the leader in the dialogue. "The only weak point remaining is the limited market we now have in the sale of these lands. This market must be extended, and the east is the place the extension must be made. It is my intention to establish English and European agencies and to place safe agents in some of the eastern centers of population. The opportunity is the greatest that will ever come to you."

There was no dissent from this statement on the part of the other. His manner suggesed an evident desire to learn more of the plan under discussion. The point in the negotiations between the two where there might be any danger in freedom of speech had already been passed. There was no exhibition on either side of troublesome qualms over the moral phase of the business in hand, and the conversation turned on nothing but the prospects of carrying out the scheme with safety and profit.

"You must bear in mind," said the master spirit of the conference, "that this is nothing new. A smart chap conceived the possibilities of the plan when he was with Gen. Price's raiding army in southwest Missouri during the war. This chap was one that happened to be turned loose in the land office at Ironton and grabbed 300 patents, each to 320 acres of land. He would probably have taken more, but that was all he could carry. He planted them at the time and resurrected them after the war—in 1868. While he had a general idea of their value he had little ingenuity in realizing on them.

"Finally he met a friend with a quicker brain, and this friend suggested securing the services of a notary to take the acknowledgements necessary to securing land under the patents. They came to St. Louis and found the man they wanted—a notary who liked his liquor a bit too well to ask too many questions. The deeds based on the patents were made and a good business was done in the sale of the lands until the stock of patents ran out. This pair discontinued operations, but they opened a great field. I saw that thousands of these patents were available—never mind how—and am ready to carry on business on a big scale."

"But how can a deed be made in 1872 or later so that it will look like it was made a dozen years before, when the patents were issued?" cautiously asked the other.

"Take my word for it, the deeds issued from these patents are as good as wheat for commercial purposes. I have a process that gives them a semblance of age that no one has ever questioned. In short, it's a market we want—nothing else."

"Might not the signatures to these deeds be construed as forgeries?"

"Possibly, although no one has questioned them so far. But in order to prevent any complication from that source we can provide for the signing of the documents in another state. They can't force witnesses across the state line."

Numerous other objections, designed to test the security of the scheme rather than to discourage the execution of it, were offered by the visitor. Each was met with a comprehensive and plausible answer, indicating that in all its details the plot had been subjected to the scrutiny of a bright mind trained to the consideration of legal technicalities. Before the men left the office they had entered into a hard and fast agreement to carry out the plan proposed by the Missourian.

Robert L. Lindsay, the president of the Real Estate Loan and Trust company, of St. Louis, and the leader of the conversation in his private office on the night in question, was a man of increasing prominence in his state. He was the son of James Lindsay, who had located in St. Louis in 1834.

Lindsay Sr. became the editor of the first "free soil" paper published in Missouri, and was later sent to the legislature as a "Benton democrat." During the early days of the war, while Ulysses S. Grant was recruiting the regiment at the head of which he made his first leaps toward military greatness, he went to Iron county, Mo., in the southeast part of the state, and became acquainted with James Lindsay, making the latter's log house his headquarters in the county.

Because I am held to the dead level of history in these narratives and not permitted to indulge in the temptations to flights of romance that constantly present themselves, I am here forced to call attention to a trait in the character of Grant that was in a great measure responsible for the Missouri land thefts.

In his sojournings at the Lindsay home Grant conceived a strong personal liking for his host, and after he was elected president he appointed his friend Lindsay pension agent at St. Louis. To this trust Lindsay proved recreant and was soon found $22,000 short in his accounts. This brought about his removal from that office, but it did not deter Grant from appointing him registrar of the Ironton land office in 1877, just before his second term expired, thereby indicating the bulldog constancy with which the great military genius clung to his old friendships whether the objects of them were worthy or not.

Robert L. Lindsay, the son, inherited many of the traits of his father, the keenness of mind, geniality of manner and, unfortunately, the shifty standard of morals. The younger Lindsay was educated in the law and had he centered his energies on the practice of that profession along honorable lines he would have attained a place of prominence among lawyers. Instead he turned from the law to real estate, and early in his career began the development of the most gigantic steal of the century. It is around this swindle, with Robert L. Lindsay as the pivotal character, that this bit of history turns.

This steal has passed into criminal history under the title of the Missouri

THE OPPORTUNITY IS THE GREATEST THAT WILL EVER COME TO YOU."

Land League. The 22 men who were convicted for this crime were the pioneers in the science of government land stealing on a wholesale basis.

In my dealings with criminals I have always been disposed to throw a heavier mantle of charity around the evil-doer who, by birth, environment and lack of opportunity for better things, has followed criminal paths, than around the well-bred, luxuriously nurtured thief whose wrong-doing is contrary to, and not because of, early training or necessity. Such crimes as these gigantic land grabs, therefore, appeal to me as being of a peculiarly vicious kind, and the prosecution of the culprits I believe to call for efforts of extraordinary earnestness on the part of the government. Land grabbing, as exemplified in the Missouri case, was a composite crime, of which forgery, perjury, larceny, arson and murder were the components. Incalculable wrong was done to the owners of millions of acres of land, to say nothing of the moral wrong of the crime itself, by the unsettling of titles to the farms of southeast Missouri.

Naturally one of the richest spots in the country—the valleys fertile and the mountains of solid mineral of inestimable value—the work of the land grafters of the '70s was a blight on the land for a generation.

If there ever was a spot in nature unfitted for a theater of crime, it is the Arcadia valley in southeast Missouri. Its soil is rich, its streams clear as crystal, its air hazy blue, and its people peaceful. Yet here was the scene of a score of crimes of violence growing out of the one big plot to steal land from the government and sell it by irregular titles to people who could ill afford to lose their savings.

To this day in Arcadia valley there is pointed out to the traveler a tree from whose gaunt limbs 17 men have been hanged between the civil war and the time I entered the valley in the hunt for land grafters. These tragedies were all the grewsome fruit of the one big crime. The victims were men whose crime was knowing too much about the operations of the land thieves—knowing too much sometimes by accident and sometimes through their own misguided efforts. In the land of "moonshine" stills knowing too much has been a capital offiense punishable by deatth at the hands of self-constituted judges and executioners. So it was in Arcadia valley and througnout southwestern Missouri following the civil war, the tabooed subject being land frauds instead of the making of white corn whisky.

From this readers must not infer that Robert L. Lindsay and the other principal thieves were in a conspiracy to commit murder; but they were in a conspiracy that led to murder as an incident. Young Lindsay was supreme in the district and his word was law, even when it meant the commission of crimes of violence to protect the land conspirators in their nefarious plans.

A large number of supernumeraries were necessary, men who little by little were dragged into the crime vortex for meager pay, and, once involved, were driven to desperate crimes to protect themselves. Innumerable county officials and other men—prominent within the county lines, but the merest cogs in the big machine of fraud—were drawn into the common cause of land stealing. Such men composed strong secret, oath-bound rings in the counties of Shannon, Dent, Butler, Wayne, Reynolds, Iron, Carter, Oregon, Madison, Stoddard and Ripley.

Do not understand me to say that all officials in these counties were corrupt, for some were honest men who dared not move against the thieves. There were enough of the dishonest ones, however, to control largely in public affairs of the district, and to succeed in fostering a general belief that no man's life was safe who became informer.

Thus matters stood in the fall of 1875; Carl Schurz was secretary of the interior and James J. Brooks was chief of the secret service, Elmer Washburn having been deposed by President Grant because he had been so vigorous toward some of Grant's friends in the whisky ring scandals. I had been chasing the ever-active but elusive counterfeiter through the central west when my chief called my attention to a communication from a resident of Missouri to the department of the interior. This letter pointed out the fact that wholesale frauds were being perpetrated in Missouri in land matters, and roughly indicated the method by which the stealing was being done. Secretary Schurz had turned the communication over to Chief Brooks, and it soon reached me.

The preliminary investigations were made by me in my capacity of secret service operative, and in making them it became necessary to incur what at that time was an unusually heavy item of expense in having abstracts of title made. At that time the total government appropriation for the secret division was only $60,000 a year, an amount but $10,000 greater than was recently allowed for the search for the plate from which a $100 counterfeit bill was being made. For this reason arrangements were made ostensibly severing my connection with the secret and making me a special agent of the interior department for the purpose of the land fraud investigation.

It will be necessary for me, at the hazard of lapsing into technicalities, to set forth briefly the law governing the acquisition of the class of lands dealt in by the thieves. This particular law went into effect in August, 1854, and was generally known as the "graduation act." In Missouri it came to be known as the "bit acre" act, this title springing from the fact that the price to be paid per acre under the act was 12½ cents, or a "bit," in Missouri parlance. The act provided that any citizen of the United States over 21 could make application for 320 acres of land in the prescribed district, and must actually settle on the land applied for within six months of application. In one year from the end of this six months' period the settler was required to appear at the land office of the district and make affidavit that he had settled on the land and had improved and cultivated it according to description filed with the registrar at the same time. To the fact of settlement and improvement there had to be two witnesses, neighbors, who were required to swear to the facts as set forth by the applicant.

When the original application was made it was customary to forward it to Washington, where a patent was made out and sent back to the land office of the district, where it was held until the applicant appeared with proofs of settlement and improvement.

The graduation act was the outgrowth of a peculiar physical condition. All early settlements of new territory are made along its principal waterways. In Missouri the first settlements were made along the Mississippi river in Cape Girardeau, New Madrid and Ste. Genevieve counties, the land titles in this district going back to the original Spanish grants. The United States surveys of the territory lying west of this were made in 1820-21, but the lands back from the river had not proved tempting to the pioneer. For a quarter of a century they lay in their virgin condition.

Congress at that time reflected the general desire for rapid settlement, and as an inducement the "bit acre" act was passed. As far back as the passage of this act there were men who saw the possibilities for land grafting under it. Greer W. Davis, a prominent resident of Missouri, signed thousands of applications contrary to law before the war, and his operations, with those of many others, covered vast areas—so vast, in fact, that a large part of several counties was covered. The patents corresponding to these applications were sent on from Washington to the land office then located at Jackson. In 1861 the land office was moved to Ironton, and with it thousands of patents issued on fraudulent applications.

Then came the civil war. In addition to the fraudulent applications thousands of others had been made by bona-fide settlers. Large numbers of these applicants went to the war and either were killed or settled elsewhere when peace was declared. Their patents were still pigeonholed in the Ironton land office. It is undoubtedly true that some of these patents had been stolen by Gen. Price's raiders about the time of the battle of Pilot Knob, but thousands of them remained unclaimed in the office. Such were the physical and legal conditions in which the greatest conspiracy of the generation had its roots.

In the early part of 1880 I registered at the primitive tavern at Ironton as James Hall, of Chicago. Inquiry before my arrival had convinced me that there was one man in the district whom I could trust implicitly, and he was Bernard Zwart, United States commissioner for the district, and as "square-toed" a government official as it ever has been my good fortune to meet. To him I revealed my true identity; to others I was the representative of a Chicago land syndicate.

"You have a prodigious task before you," was Zwart's introductory remark. "Not only that, but you are dealing with a clique of men who are deep in the mire of fraud and who will not submit tamely to being hauled into the daylight by the government."

I realized this fully. I asked Zwart for such information as he could give.

"I first became convinced that wholesale fraud was being committed," he replied, "when, several years ago, Robert Lindsay offered to sell me all the patents to 320 acres each I wanted at ten dollars apiece. I bought none of them, but have kept half an eye on matters since. Recently Mrs. Salsbury, of Ironton, told me that she had been hired by Robert Lindsay in the writing of deeds in his office in that city. As nearly as I can learn, Lindsay has six or seven clerks employed in making out deeds in his Ironton office, and I am convinced that these deeds are not straight."

A survey of the situation showed me that when Grant in 1869 appointed James Lindsay pension agent at St. Louis he made Carroll R. Peck chief clerk. The relationship between Lindsay and Peck was unusual in that Lindsay's second wife was Peck's sister, and Peck's wife was Lindsay's daughter, Peck, therefore, being James Lindsay's brother-in-law and son-in-law, and Robert Lindsay's brother-in-law.

INTRODUCING THE SPEAKER

Chairman Who Knew Just How to Do It Without Saying Too Much.

How seldom does a speaker get a chairman who has the wisdom to make the right introductory speech, but here is a model. The chairman, in introducing the speaker, said:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I have the honor to introduce to you this evening the gentleman who is going to deliver an address to us. He goes to the same church as I do. As a pure citizen I respect him! as a personal friend of years I have the warmest regard for him; as a neighbor whose vegetable garden adjoins mine—why—why, I watch him. He is a square, true man in honest politics, and I must say he occupies rather a lonesome position. So broad, so bountiful in his character that he has never turned a tramp empty-handed from his door, but always gave him a letter of introduction to me. Pure, honest, incorruptible, that is the speaker of the evening. Such a man in politics is like a bottle of perfumery in a glue factory—it may moderate the stench, but it doesn't destroy it. I haven't said any more of him than I should say of myself. Ladies and gentlemen, our friend will now proceed to talk to us."

Doubtful.

"Is he a poet?"

"W-e-ll, he writes magazine verse."—Houston Post.

Tumors Conquered Without Operations

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Cases of Mrs. Fox and Miss Adams.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, Tumor.

So-called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by excessive monthly periods accompanied by unusual pain extending from the abdomen through the groin and thighs.

If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation; secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once and begin its use and write Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Read these strong letters from grateful women who have been cured:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (First Letter.)

"In looking over your book I see that your medicine cures Tumors. I have been to a doctor and he tells me I have a tumor. I will be more than grateful if you can help me, as I do so dread an operation."—Fannie D. Fox, Bradford, Pa.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (Second Letter.)

"I take the liberty to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine.

"Eighteen months ago my periods stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly I submitted to a thorough examination by a physician, and was told that I had a tumor and would have to undergo an operation.

"I soon after read one of your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After taking five bottles as directed, the tumor is entirely gone. I have again been examined by the physician and he says I have no signs of a tumor now. It has also brought my periods around once more; and I am entirely well. I shall never be without a bottle of Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the house."—Fannie D. Fox, Bradford, Pa.

Another Case of Tumor Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"About three years ago I had intense pain in my stomach, with cramps and raging headaches. The doctor prescribed for me, but finding that I did not get any better he examined me and, to my surprise, declared I had a tumor.

"I felt sure that it meant my death warrant, and was very disheartened. I spent hundreds of dollars in doctoring, but the tumor kept growing, till the doctor said that nothing but an operation would save me. Fortunately I corresponded with my aunt in one of the New England States, who advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before submitting to an operation, and I at once started taking a regular treatment, finding to my great relief that my general health began to improve, and after three months I noticed that the tumor had reduced in size. I kept on taking the Compound, and in ten months it had entirely disappeared without an operation, and using no medicine but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and words fail to express how grateful I am for the good it has done me."—Miss Luella Adams, Colonnade Hotel, Seattle, Wash.

Such unquestionable testimony proves the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and should give confidence and hope to every sick woman.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all ailing women to write to her at Lynn, Mass., for advice.

ANÆMIA CAN BE CURED

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Make New Blood and Strike Straight at the Root of Disease.

Anæmia is just the doctor's name for bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood. They cure anæmia just as food cures hunger. They cured Mrs. Thos. J. McGann, of 17 Lincoln Place, Plainfield, N.J., and they can do as much for any other pale, weak, ailing, bloodless person.

"In the spring of 1903 I did my usual house cleaning," says Mrs. McGann, "and soon afterward I began to have the most terrible headaches. My heart would beat so irregularly that it was painful and there came a morning when I could not get up. My doctor said I had anæmia and he was surprised that I had continued to live in the condition I was in. I was confined to my bed for nearly two months, the doctor coming every day for the first few weeks, but I did not improve to amount to anything.

"Altogether I was sick for nearly two years. I was as weak as a rag, had headaches, irregular heart beats, loss of appetite, cramps in the limbs and was unable to get a good night's sleep. My legs and feet were so swollen that I feared they would burst.

"One day, while I was wondering how long I could live, feeling as I did, I received a booklet telling about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I read it and told my husband to get me some of the pills. Before the first box was gone I felt a change for the better. I have taken about twelve boxes and although I was as near the grave as I could be, I now feel as if I had a new lease of life. I have no more headache, the heart beats regularly, my cheeks are pink and I feel ten years younger. I feel that I have been cured very cheaply and I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to lots of my friends."

IN MEDICAL CIRCLES.

Austrian and German physicians have fixed on coffee as one of the causes of epilepsy.

Many cases of deafness now under treatment by London physicians are attributable by them to influenza.

Apparently healthy persons frequently carry diphtheria germs in the mouth, thereby infecting eating and drinking utensils, and in this way they may be instrumental in spreading the disease.

Dr. Koch, the famous German scientist, is to take charge of an expedition to investigate the sleeping sickness in German East Africa. The German colonial department has, it is said, given a great sum of money toward the expenses of the expedition.

When the floor of the operating theater of the old hospital at Canterbury, England, was torn up the other day the rings were discovered through which were passed the cords for tying patients down on the operating table prior to the discovery of anesthetics.

An application has been made by the Japanese government to the British General Medical council, asking it to recognize the degrees of Japanese medical practitioners in various parts of the British empire. It is in the Straits Settlements that the Japanese doctors particularly wish leave to practice at present.

A member of the British Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons says: "The growth of quack dog doctors and bogus medicines during the last few years has been simply appalling. These "dog specialists," as they call themselves, are usually dog dealers with good knowledge of canine habits but absolute ignorance of medicine."

A Japanese scientist named Matsura has been studying the effects of diseases and the varying physical state of the body upon the growth and thickness of the hair. He finds that hair, especially in the case of persons whose hair is of coarse structure, is so sensitive to bodily condition that it contains a veritable history of the state of the individual to whom it belongs, for the period covered by its growth.

In the rabies treatment of Tizzoni and Bongiovanni, Italian physicians, radium has had effective action both upon the virus and the animals. Exposure to radium rays has converted the virus into very active vacine, protecting animals against deadly inoculations with virus; and exposures of several hours daily for six days, begun from ten to 100 hours after inoculation, have reduced the fever and caused the recovery of the animals experimented upon, while all untreated animals similarly inoculated soon died.

A BOY'S BREAKFAST.

There's a Natural Food That Makes Its Own Way.

There's a boy up in Hoosick Falls, N. Y., who is growing into sturdy manhood on Grape-Nuts breakfasts. It might have been different with him, as his mother explains:

"My 11-year-old boy is large, well developed and active, and has been made so by his fondness for Grape-Nuts food. At five years he was a very nervous child and was subject to frequent attacks of indigestion which used to rob him of his strength and were very troublesome to deal with. He never seemed to care for anything for his breakfast until I tried Grape-Nuts, and I have never had to change from that. He makes his entire breakfast of Grape-Nuts food. It is always relished by him and he says that it satisfies him better than the ordinary kind of a meal.

"Better than all, he is no longer troubled with indigestion or nervousness, and has got to be a splendidly developed fellow since he began to use Grape-Nuts food." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

WASHINGTON AS A CONSTRUCTIVE PATRIOT

By KATHERINE POPE

Some men support the interests of their country by defending the land they love. Washington was both defender and builder, soldier and statesman. Let us dwell on his work as builder.

Naturally conservative, Washington was not in favor of courting trouble with old England; but as acts of English aggression followed one after another, realized submission had ceased to be a virtue. When the first continental congress met, in 1774, he accepted election as delegate, and in company with Patrick Henry set out for Philadelphia. "That congress sat in Carpenter's hall with closed doors, but the great papers that it prepared and issued form a proud part of American history. Those were the papers and that the congress of which Chatham in the house of lords, in his memorable speech on the removal of troops from Boston, January 20, 1775, said: 'When your lordships look at the papers transmitted to us from America, when you consider their decency, firmness and wisdom, you cannot but respect their cause, and wish to make it your own. For myself I must declare and avow that in all my reading and observation—and it has been my favorite study—I have read Thucydides, and have studied and admired the master statesmen of the world—that for solidity of reasoning, force of sagacity, and wisdom of conclusion, under such a complication of difficult circumstances, no nation or body of men can stand in preference to the general congress at Philadelphia.' The precise part taken by Washington within the closed doors of Carpenter's hall is nowhere recorded, but the testimony of one of its most distinguished members cannot be forgotten. When Patrick Henry returned home from the meeting and was asked whom he considered the greatest man at that congress, he replied: 'If you speak of eloquence, Mr. Rutledge, of South Carolina, is by far the greatest orator; but if you speak of solid information and sound judgment, Col. Washington is unquestionably the greatest man on that floor.'"

Washington was also delegate to the second continental congress, the one which unanimously elected him commander in chief of the continental forces, and the one where he declared the position a "trust too great for my capacity." To us it is pleasing to compare the modesty that characterized Washington throughout his life with the egotism looked upon as forgivable, essential part of a forceful personality of the present day.

The two years lapsing between Cornwallis' surrender and the treaty of peace was a period marked by more distinguished patriotism on the part of Washington and by his political wisdom and foresight. The country was in a most troubled state, officers and men suspicious that the army was bo be disbanded without congress making provision for meeting the just claims of the troops. Both officers and men began to distrust a republican form of government. Matters went so far, an army colonel was sent to communicate with Washington and make suggestion that he assume the title of king and give the country a firm government. The agent met with a severe rebuke; this Washington's answer to the suggestion: "I am at a loss to conceive what part of my conduct could have given encouragement to an address which to me seems big with the greatest mischief that can befall my country. If I am not deceived in the knowledge of myself, you could not have found a person to whom your schemes are more disagreeable. . . . Let me conjure you, then, if you have any regard for your country, concern for youself or posterity, or respect for me, to banish these thoughts from your mind, and never communicate, from yourself or anyone else, a sentiment of like nature."

The discontent and apprehension continued, a meeting of officers was arranged and there were issued the "Newburg Addresses," intended to arouse the army to resentment. Washington, uninvited, attended the meeting and made an address, in which he declared the claims of the army would not be disregarded, and begged his hearers "to express their utmost horror and detestation of the man who wishes, under any specious pretenses, to overturn the liberties of our country, and who wickedly attempts to open the floodgates of civil discord and deluge our rising empire in blood." The result of his appeal, resolutions were unanimously adopted concurring in the policy he proposed.

Shortly before the dissolution of the army Washington addressed a letter to the governors of the states, urging upon them realization of the four things essential to the existence and well-being of the United States: "First, an indissoluble union of the states under one federal head; second, a sacred regard to public justice; third, the adoption of a proper peace establishment; and, fourth, the prevalence of that pacific and friendly disposition among the people of the United States which will induce them to forget their local prejudices and policies, to make those mutual concessions which are requisite to the general prosperity, and, in some instances, to sacrifice their individual advantages to the interest of the community." These he counted "the pillars on which the glorious fabric of our independency and national character must rest."

In such perfect sympathy with the idea of conferring greater powers on the federal government, he consented to head the delegates from Virginia to the Philadelphia convention called May 14, 1787, and was unanimously elected president of this convention. It closed September 17, on which date Washington, as one of his biographers phrases it, had the supreme satisfaction of addressing a letter to congress announcing the adoption of the constitution of the United States. To quote directly from the letter: "In all our deliberations on the subject, we kept steadily in our view that which appears to us the greatest interest of every true American—the consolidation of our union—in which is involved our prosperity, our safety, and perhaps our national existence."

On the 6th of April, 1789, Washington was declared president of the United States. On the 30th of April, he was inaugurated. His wisdom and firmness carried the ship of state safely through two administrations, though the waters oft were troubled. At the close of the first term he desired to withdraw to private life, but was urged that duty to the country demanded he continue in public service. Jefferson wrote: "The confidence of the whole country is centered in you. North and south will hang together if they have you to hang on." Hamilton used this persuasion: "It is clear that if you continue in office nothing materially mischievous is to be apprehended. If you quit much is to be dreaded. . . . I trust, and I pray God, that you will determine to make a further sacrifice of your tranquillity and happiness to the public good."

Washington the soldier, to whom proud Cornwallis made surrender, appeals to the popular fancy. But the people should remember the hero was also "first in peace"—a nation builder.

Baseball has found a foothold in the City of Mexico, and is to gain further interest from the opening of grounds devoted to this sport at Chapultepec. There is the famous castle where President Diaz is at home, as well as the military academy of Mexico. On holidays and Sundays very large crowds resort thither to hear the band concerts. Finance Minister Limantour is ready to give a concession on grounds there for 20 years, provided $20,000 is expended in improvements.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

A Denver girl sprained her ankle at a football game. Gee, she must have a deep voice!

Palm—Do men usually give according to their means?

Pepper—No; according to their meanness.

Orange—Has he an interest in the business?

Lemon—Only a slight curiosity, I believe.

Plum—Why do they call an auto "she?"

Prunes—It's so hard to manage, and so expensive.

Emmeline—I pity the man that marries you.

Eleanor—I'd do the same for the man that marries you, only I know there'll never be any such man.

She—I'll learn you to find fault with my temper. When we married you took me for better or worse.

He—Yes, Martha, but did I hope there would have been something like an average.

31 Boxes of Gold

300 Boxes of Greenbacks

For the most words made up from these letters

Y - I - O - Grape - Nuts

331 people will earn these prizes.

Around the fireside or about the well-lighted family reading table during the winter evenings the children and grown-ups can play with their wits and see how many words can be made.

20 people making the greatest number of words will each receive a little box containing a $10.00 gold piece.

10 people will each win one box containing a $5.00 gold piece.

300 people will each win a box containing $1.00 in paper money and one person who makes the highest number of words over all contestants will receive a box containing $100.00 in gold.

It is really a most fascinating bit of fun to take up the list evening after evening and see how many words can be added.

A few rules are necessary for absolute fair play.

Any word authorized by Webster's dictionary will be counted, but no name of person. Both the singular and plural can be used, as for instance "grape" and "grapes."

The letters in "Y-I-O-Grape-Nuts" may be repeated in the same word.

Geographical names authorized by Webster will be counted.

Arrange the words in alphabetical classes, all those beginning with A together and those beginning with E to come under E, etc.

When you are writing down the words leave some spaces, in the A, E, and other columns to fill in later as new words come to you, for they will spring into mind every evening.

It is almost certain that some contestants will tie with others. In such cases a prize identical in value and character with that offered in that class shall be awarded to each. Each one will be requested to send with the list of words a plainly written letter describing the advantages of Grape-Nuts, but the contestant is not required to purchase a pkg. These letters are not to contain poetry, or fancy flourishes, but simple, truthful statements of fact. For illustration: A person may have experienced some incipient or chronic ails traceable to unwise selection of food that failed to give the body and brain the energy, health and power desired. Seeking better conditions a change in food is made and Grape-Nuts and cream used in place of the former diet. Suppose one quits the meat, fried potatoes, starchy, sticky messes of half-cooked oats or wheat and cuts out the coffee. Try, say, for breakfast, a bit of fruit, a dish of Grape-Nuts and cream, two soft-boiled eggs, a slice of hard toast and a cup of Postum Food Coffee. Some amateur says: "A man would faint away on that," but my dear friend we will put dollars to your pennies that the noon hour will find a man on our breakfast huskier and with a stronger heart-beat and clearer working brain than he ever had on the old diet.

Suppose, if you have never really made a move for absolutely clean health that pushes you along each day with a spring in your step and a reserve vigor in muscle and brain that makes the doing of things a pleasure, you join the army of "plain old common sense" and start in now. Then after you have been 2 or 3 weeks on the Grape-Nuts training you write a statement of how you used to be and how you are now. The simple facts will interest others and surprise yourself. We never publish names except on permission, but we often tell the facts in the newspapers and when requested give the names by private letter.

There is plenty of time to get personal experience with Grape-Nuts and write a sensible, truthful letter to be sent in with the list of words, as the contest does not close until April 30th, 1906. So start in as soon as you like to building words, and start in using Grape-Nuts. Cut this statement out and keep the letters Y-I-O-Grape-Nuts before you and when you write your letter you will have some reason to write on the subject "Why I Owe Grape-Nuts."

Remember 331 persons will win prizes, which will be awarded in an exact and just manner as soon as the list can be counted after April 30th, 1906. Every contestant will be sent a printed list of names and addresses of winners on application, in order to have proof that the prizes are sent as agreed. The company is well known all over the world for absolute fidelity to its agreements and every single one of the 331 winners may depend on receiving the prize won.

Many persons might feel it useless to contest, but when one remembers the great number of prizes—(331)—the curiosity of seeing how many words can really be made up evening after evening and the good, natural fun and education in the competition, it seems worth the trial; there is no cost, nothing to lose and a fine opportunity to win one of the many boxes of gold or greenbacks.

We make the prediction that some who win a prize of gold or greenbacks, will also win back health and strength worth more to them than a wagon full of money prizes.

There are no preliminaries, cut out this statement and go at it, and send in the list and letter before April 30th, 1906, to Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich., and let your name and address be plainly written.

RICH'S ALL WOOL SOCK
WOOLRICH PA.
DOUBLE HEEL AND TOE

TO THE PEOPLE

Rich's Famous All Wool Sock has fallen into competition with a very inferior article. The imitation is so perfect that only an expert is able to detect the counterfeit with its cotton and shoddy mixtures, until the sock is put into service. Unscrupulous competitors are representing the sock as Rich's All Wool, thus deceiving the customer and injuring our reputation.

To protect ourselves and the trade, in the future Rich's Socks will bear a Red Seal Trade Mark printed in white, a fac-simile of which is shown above.

Just cool it with Fred Webster's ice.

Had It Bad.

HAINES CITY, FLA.

Philips Drug Co., Warren, Pa.

Dear Sirs,—December 25, 1901, was taken with what physicians pronounced MUSCULAR RHEUMATISM.

I had it bad. I took as I thought, every known remedy, paid out enough money anyhow. I was entirely helpless for nearly eighteen months; about that time saw your ad in The National Tribune; sent for a bottle, then sent for another, then another; and now I am out of the medicine business entirely. I give Crooker's Rheumatic Remedy the credit of curing me. I can heartly recommend it.

A FOOLISH PLAN

'Tis a joy to eat—I welcome my dinner hour;
Because I rout indigestion with August Flower!

¶Constipation is the result of indigestion, biliousness, flatulency, loss of appetite, self-poisoning, anemia, emaciation, uric acid, neuralgia in various parts of the system, catarrhal inflammation of the intestinal canal and numerous other ailments that rob life of its pleasures if they do not finally rob you of life itself.

¶"I'm bound in the bowels," is a common expression of people who look miserable and are miserable—yet who persist in "letting nature take its course."

¶What a foolish plan, when nature could be aided by the use of Green's August Flower, which is nature's own remedy for constipation and all stomach ills.

¶August Flower gives new life to the liver and insures healthy stools.

¶Two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists.
